Introduction

KHRG's documentation shows that fighting between the Karen National Liberation Army (KNLA)\(^1\) and the Tatmadaw\(^2\) has escalated in the aftermath of the February 1\(^{\text{st}}\) 2021 military coup.\(^3,4\) There has been a rise in both attacks and retaliatory activities throughout KHRG’s operational area, notably in Kler Lwee Htoo [Nyaunglebin], Mu Trw [Hpa'pun] and Doo Tha Htoo districts [Thaton], in complete violation of section 5(a) of the Nationwide Ceasefire Agreement (NCA),\(^5\) which forbids the signatories from carrying out armed attacks in ceasefire areas.

On March 27\(^{th}\) 2021, KNLA Brigade 5 attacked and scorched a Tatmadaw outpost along the Salween River manned by Light Infantry Battalion (LIB)\(^6\) #349 soldiers in Thee Mu Hta, near Meh Nuh Hta village, Pah Heh village tract,\(^7\) Bu Tho Township.\(^8\) Ten Tatmadaw soldiers were killed during the attack, and at least eight were taken captive by the KNLA. One KNLA soldier also died.\(^9\)

In what seems to have been a direct response to this attack, the Tatmadaw carried out a series of airstrikes against both KNLA and civilian targets in Mu Trw and Kler Lwee Htoo districts from March 27\(^{th}\) to March 30\(^{th}\), killing at least 16 people and injuring 25.\(^{10}\) Airstrikes were in most cases preceded by reconnaissance flyovers by Tatmadaw drones or helicopters. The bombings led to the displacement of at least 15,000 villagers, the majority of whom still remain in hiding and are in dire need of humanitarian support.

1. The Karen National Liberation Army is the armed wing of the Karen National Union.
2. Tatmadaw refers to the Myanmar military.
3. On February 1\(^{\text{st}}\) 2021, the Burma Army deposed the democratically elected government led by the National League for Democracy (NLD). The military proclaimed a year-long state of emergency and transferred power to Min Aung Hlaing, the Commander-in-Chief of Myanmar’s Armed Forces. Based on unproven fraud allegations, the Tatmadaw invalidated the landslide victory of the NLD in the November 2020 General Election and stated it would hold new elections at the end of the state of emergency. The coup d'état occurred the day before the Parliament of Myanmar was due to swear in the members elected during the 2020 election. Elected President Win Myint and State Counsellor Aung San Suu Kyi were detained, along with ministers, their deputies and members of Parliament.

5. On October 15th 2015, after a negotiation process marred with controversy over the notable non-inclusion of several ethnic armed groups, a Nationwide Ceasefire Agreement (NCA) was signed between the Burma/Myanmar government and eight of the fifteen ethnic armed groups originally invited to the negotiation table, including the Karen National Union. It was followed by the adoption of a Code of Conduct by the signatories in November 2015. In February 2018, two additional armed ethnic groups signed the NCA under pressure from the Burma/Myanmar government.
6. A Tatmadaw Light Infantry Battalion (LIB) comprises 500 soldiers. However, most Light Infantry Battalions in the Tatmadaw are under-strength with less than 200 soldiers. Yet up to date information regarding the size of battalions is hard to come by, particularly following the signing of the NCA. LIBs are primarily used for offensive operations, but they are sometimes used for garrison duties.
7. A village tract is an administrative unit of between five and 20 villages in a local area, often centred on a large village.

It was provided by community members in Mu Trw and Kler Lwee Htoo districts who have been trained by KHRG to monitor human rights conditions on the ground. The names of the victims, their photos and the exact locations are censored for security reasons. The parts in square brackets are explanations added by KHRG.

Airstrikes

On the night of March 27th to 28th 2021, Tatmadaw jets bombed the Day Bu Noh area [Day Bu Noh is a village seven miles from the Thai border where the KNLA Brigade 5 headquarters are located], Pay Kay village tract, Lu Thaw Township. A few hours before the incident, between 3 pm and 4 pm, a local Karen relief worker saw five fighter jets flying over the area – presumably on a reconnaissance mission. However, he told KHRG that there might have been more jets patrolling the area: “I think there were a lot of jets because we heard the loud noise of jets in-flight. The jets were flying over our heads.”

The first airstrike was carried out by two jets. It started at around 7:45 pm and ended at around 9 pm on March 27th 2021. On March 28th, at around 12:45 am, two others jets came and bombed the area again. The airstrikes resulted in civilian casualties, including children; as well as in the destruction of several buildings in Pay Kay village tract, including the Karen Education and Culture Department (KECD)11 No. 1 Day Bu Noh High school in Day Bu Noh village, as well as 12 villagers’ houses in the area.

These photos were taken on April 10th 2021 in Day Bu Noh village, Pay Kay village tract, Lu Thaw Township, Mu Traw District.

They show the KECD Day Bu Noh High School, which was destroyed by Tatmadaw airstrikes on March 28th 2021. A few houses near the school were also damaged.

This particular school was newly built. It opened in 2017.

Its main goals are to provide mother tongue education services to rural Karen populations in Southeast Myanmar, as well as to preserve the Karen language, culture and history. Despite being an important education provider in the region, it is not officially recognised by the Myanmar government.

Tatmadaw jets continued to drop bombs on the Day Bu Noh area on the night of March 28th to March 29th. Local villagers in Hkay Poo, Tay Muh Der, and Pah Heh village tracts also witnessed Tatmadaw jets flying over their villages during the night. According to a KHRG researcher: “Tatmadaw soldiers also attacked using small guns [the jets fired their cannons]. Four houses [in the Day Bu Noh area] were destroyed by the small gun fire, but I cannot specify the name of the house owners.”

On March 28th 2021, at 11:45 pm, Tatmadaw jets bombed several villages in the Day Bu Noh area again, injuring three villagers: Saw I---, 65 years old (Day Bu Noh village); Saw J---, 58 years old (Ywa Ray Per Hkoh village); and one child (name, age and village unknown). Moreover, two houses were destroyed in the airstrikes. One was owned by Saw K--- in Htee Kyweh Nee village. The other was owned by Saw L--- in Thay Kha Hta village. Saw L---’s belongings were also damaged, including his household items, farming tractor, rice milling machine and sewing machine.

On March 29th, at 1 am, two Tatmadaw jets dropped two bombs on the KECD Ser Thweh Thaw School, Hto Htee Per Hkoh village, Pay Kay village tract. No casualties were reported.

Displacement

A total of 2,490 villagers from 15 villages in Pay Kay village tract fled their village because of the airstrikes and settled temporarily in nearby forests. They could not take any belongings or food with them, but some villagers managed to retrieve rice from their villages in the morning. According to a KHRG researcher, every villager in Pay Kay village tract eventually fled to the forest. The villagers who were injured in the airstrikes on Day Bu Noh area could not access proper healthcare services at the displacement site. Some of them were eventually sent to Thailand for treatment on March 30th 2021 [KHRG was not able to establish how many].

KHRG received these photos on April 19th 2021. They show villagers who were injured in the airstrike on Day Bu Noh village area hiding in the forest without access to treatment or proper shelter. They also face food shortages as they had to leave their food supplies behind when they fled. [Photos: KHRG]

A KHRG researcher reported that, as of March 31st 2021, there were over 7,000 IDPs in Lu Thaw Township, Mu Traw District. They need food, medicine and tarpaulin for their shelters. These IDPs call on the international community to pressure the Myanmar military into stopping its airstrikes. They are living in constant fear of a Tatmadaw attack. At the time of drafting, the displaced villagers were still hiding in fear because they worried that Tatmadaw troops would come to their village. In nearby Kheh Pa village tract, hundreds of villagers also fled their homes because of the airstrikes on the Day Bu Noh area. Some settled in the forest while others fled to Thailand.

B. Dwe Lo Township, Mu Traw District

On March 29th 2021, at around 1 pm, two Tatmadaw jets dropped five bombs on the KECD No. 3 Daw Koo Hta High School in Ler Htoo Poe Village, Mae Thu Village Tract, Dwe Lo Township, Mu Traw District. Five children were injured in the bombing, and two of them sustained serious injuries. The school was completely destroyed.\(^{15}\)

Local sources also reported that Tatmadaw jets dropped two bombs on Meh K’law and Khaw Hpoh Kyi villages, Meh Way village tract, Dwe Lo Township, Mu Traw District on March 30th 2021.\(^{16}\) The bombs destroyed or damaged six houses, two rice barns, 175 baskets of rice, one motorbike and one tractor in Meh K’law village. They also killed two villagers (63 year-old Saw Lo Boe and 55-year-old Thein Win), injured four others (50-year-old Naw M---, 62-year-old Naw N---, 17-year-old Saw O--- and 30 year-old Saw P---) and damaged three houses in Khaw Hpoh

According to a KHRG researcher, as of early April, the airstrikes had led nearly 5,000 villagers from Dwe Lo Township to flee their village.

Airstrikes

A KHRG researcher reported that the Tatmadaw also carried out two airstrikes in Pah Heh village tract on March 28th 2021, killing one villager and injuring three others. The bombs damaged the KECD Thee Kaw Hta school and a clinic in Thee Kaw Hta Place, Paw Kah Der village; as well as some villagers' houses in Lay Ther Hkoh village.

On the same day, at around 3:30 pm, the Tatmadaw carried out two airstrikes on Khoh Kay village, Pah Heh village tract, Bu Tho Township. There were no casualties because local villagers had already fled to a safe location at around mid-day.

Displacement

The Ei Tu Hta IDP camp is located 21.5 kilometres from Khoh Kay village, Pa Heh village tract, Bu Tho Township, against which an airstrike was carried out on March 28th 2021. People in Ei Tu Hta heard rumours about a Tatmadaw plan to carry out airstrikes against the camp. Therefore, over 3,000 persons living in Ei Tu Hta and surrounding villages, including women, children, elders and persons with disabilities, fled the area and crossed the Salween River [which marks the border between Thailand and Myanmar] by boat later that day. Some of the IDPs could bring their belongings with them, but others could not bring anything.

A few hours after reaching Thailand, they were forced to return to Myanmar by the Royal Thai Army. Some elder IDPs did not return right away and stayed in Thailand for 2-3 days, after which they were deported. According to an IDP who fled to Thailand but was forced to return to Ei Tu Hta, the Royal Thai Army told them that they had asked the Tatmadaw not to carry out airstrikes against the Ei Tu Hta IDP camp. Although Thailand is not party to the 1951 Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees, the actions of the Royal Thai Army amount to refoulement. Thus, they fail to meet the country's legal obligations under customary international law.

D. Kler Lwee Htoo District

On March 30th 2021, two Tatmadaw jets bombed the Moe Aung gold mining site located in Meh Theh Hkee place near Htee Hpa Doh village, Meh Yeh Hkee village tract, Hsaw Htee Township, Kler Lwee Htoo District. A local source reported that nine people were killed [eight mine workers and a KNLA radio operator] and two others were injured [four mine workers and a member of Local people in Hsaw Htee Township have heard about the shelling and armed attacks. A Karen relief worker told KHRG that, after the airstrike, the Tatmadaw had withdrawn from the area to reinforce their troops at the main army base in Way Htoo (Shwegyin) Town. Local people are now concerned that the Tatmadaw might have plans to carry out more airstrikes in their area.

Conclusion

The increase in fighting between the KNLA and the Tatmadaw following the February 1st military coup has led to concerns that the NCA might, in practice, no longer be in force. In this context, the airstrikes mark a worrisome escalation of the conflict between the two armed actors, as the Tatmadaw had not used air assets to carry out attacks against the KNU since 1995. Although the State Administration Council (SAC) announced a unilateral ceasefire from April 1st to April 21 The Karen National Union (KNU) is the main Karen political organisation. It was established in 1947 and has been in conflict with the Burma/Myanmar government since 1949. The KNU wields power across large areas of Southeast Myanmar and has been calling for the creation of a democratic federal system since 1976. Although it signed the Nationwide Ceasefire Agreement in 2015, relations with the government remain tense.

22 The State Administration Council (SAC) is the executive governing body created in the aftermath of the February 1st 2021 military coup. It was established by Senior General Min Aung Hlaing on February 2nd 2021, and is composed of eight military officers and eight civilians. The chairperson serves as the de facto head of government of...
30th – later extended to the end of May –, fighting and airstrikes have continued to take place, prompting thousands of villagers to flee their homes.

Direct attacks against the civilian population and local Karen education systems have been a long-standing feature of the Tatmadaw’s counter insurgency strategy, and the recent developments suggest that this has not changed. The bombing of three schools, houses and a gold mine suggests that the Tatmadaw is either targeting civilian infrastructure on purpose or incapable of distinguishing it from legitimate military targets – the latter meaning that its airstrikes are indiscriminate in nature. In both cases, these attacks are a direct violation of international humanitarian law.

Villagers living in KNU-controlled areas now worry that fighting might eventually break out in all KNU districts; and KHRG researchers have reported that the Tatmadaw was bringing in more troops and ammunition in certain areas – presumably in preparation for further fighting. If both parties do not fully recommit to the NCA, the situation could evolve into an all-out conflict between the Tatmadaw and the KNLA. Such an outcome would likely trigger a humanitarian crisis of massive proportions and put local civilians at great risk of human rights abuses.
